Hondrone, June 10rm, 1890.

Ar the meeting of the Legislative Council yesterday afternoon His Excellency the Acting Governor read a telegram from Sir JOHN WALBHAM to the effect that representations respecting the proposed increase of the lekin on opium at Canton had been made to the Chinese Government, by Sir ROBERT HART as well as by the Minister himself, and that the project had been abandoned. It was a foregone conclusion that when the matter was brought to the notice of the Peking Government the scheme to establish squeeze farm would be reversed, and it is ago. As it does not give any name, the identisatisfactory to find that the action of the Minister and the Inspector-General of Customs was so prompt. The affair, however, has shown what sort of a man Lr HANclose watch on his policy with respect to foreign trade. Although his audacious attempt to establish a squeeze on opium has happily come to nought, it is to be feared that other articles of commerce will not escape so easily. For the protection of trade generally it is desirable that a determined effort should at once be made to secure the recognition of the transit pass system.

How very far the Chinese yet are from a similar purpose. possessing the first notions of military discipline or of knowledge how to establish it, the letter of the correspondent of the N. C. Daily News in South Formosa, alsowhere published, sufficiently exemplifies. Raw material for soldiers abounds in the Central Kingdom, but the manner in which it is handled is enough to convert any class of men into utter barbatians. Ill fed, uncared for, and seldom paid, no wonder that these "braves" are discontented, small marrel that they prey on the civil population and and Rodyk, moved to set aside an order made in are accordingly regarded as only an alteragainst whom they are marched. The scenes described at Anping by the correspondent above named are sickening and scandalous. The instance in which two men, "on the came with hoes to bury still living victims to want of care on the part of the calmly squatted down to watch for the last flicker of breath in the unfortunate before commencing their grim enough; but indignation soldiers forcing the lid of his coffin on a feebly struggling occupant, who has yet of adopting rational dress. Fru Scholander restrength to wail out a prayer for some tea. It speaks little for the humanity of the Chinese bystanders that they actually looked on contentedly while the coffin lid was nailed down upon the expiring but still conscious to the correspondent, has arisen out of a custom, which demands that when a soldier dies the officer of his company should draw five taels for the burial expensed, of which three or four dollars are handed over to his desposes with these ill paid wretches that they are eager to finger these few coins, and the miserable sufferer is accordingly trotted out of the way as soon as possible. It is quite possible that some soldiers whose cases are formus that the O. S. S. Co.'s steamer Belleroph. far from hopeless are in this way doomed to death through the cupidity of their comrades and the careless indifference of the officers. Of course the gross inhumanity of the soldiers bighshire, from Hamburg, Antworp, and Lonis to be deplored, but can anything better be no good example from their officers, and with nese soldier is, in short, no better than a ricksha injuring the former slightly, whilst one he has not. Habits of discipline a pride in his appearance, has no self-respect is regarded with dislike and contempt by the populace, and is used by the officials as machine not more valuable than a beast of burden. The army is practically without commissariat, without a medical service, and without, except in one or two corps, even an ambulance. It is little use supplying such soldiers as these with new arms of precision. for is there any likelihood that they will take any pride in them or waste energy in cleaning them? Until China feeds, pays, and clothes her soldiers properly she cannot ex-COMPANY pect to teach them discipline, and until she at which Sultan of Kedah, severely wounded at the storming of the Take after sergeant, appear in all probability necessary to go through the Bill salaries now proposed are not considered more has raised up a staff of really competent Rajah Mansur and other chiefs and officials Forts, being mentioned in desputches, promoted sary to maintain. Says the Times of India :- From the recent report on the external land trade of the Paujab 1888-89, it appears that a large decrease in the import of raw silk from foreign countries has taken place. These imports, which in 1885-86 amounted to Rs. 6.46.930 in value, have now 51,200. In last year's report, it was conjectured of the decessed proves to be a pawn-bloket of that the Ameer's fiscal policy and the disturbsome clothing pledged at Tamenl about ten days ances in Africanistan had brought about this result, but the imports from Cashmere, which in 1885-86 amounted to 12 lakks of rupees in value, have since been reduced to some 23 maunds of a value of Rs. 9,550 only. Several reasons are brought forward as a couse for the decline in trade. First it is said that the rate of raw silk at Bokhara has become high owing to the heavy duty upon it there, while Indian silk is becoming cheaper, Again, it is neged that a large quantity of raw dis, and that Bokhara silk probably finds a betof supply is Cashmers, but as the state industry King also gave away $500 at Pulsu Laneawi for and to had management, the quantity of silk produced has consequently been less. Referring to recent attempts which have been made to revive the industry in (ashmere, it is interesting to learn that a consignment of silk worms' eggs sent from France have unfortunately gone astray, while a lot from thing hatched out before their arrival. A consignment of eggs from Italy have. son that one of the eighteen sub-examiners was as well as a further supply from Bokhara, and a family connection. His EXCELLENCY-Before we propsed with the orders of the day I think it only right to state to the Council that during the course of last week I received a letter from some of the merchants in this Colony drawing my attention to the fact that the Vicercy of Canton contemplated raising the duties on opium, contrary to what were considered the terms of the Chefoo Convention. I immediately communicated with the Consul at Canton on the matter and I may way Mr. Alabaster did everything in his power in connection with the subject. I also communicated with Her Majesty's Minister at Peking by telegram, and it may interest the members of Council, and indeed the public generally, that to receipt of your telegram, for which I am much obliged. I had addressed representations to the Chinese Government or subject of contemplat- the Amendment ed imposition of opum duties higher than provided for by the Convention. The proclamation speaks for itself. So, as appears on the face of it, it is intended to put an end to all further talk about steamers coming to Changking. Can any one read it without being deeply touched at the evidences of tender paternal interest manifested by the Chiness government in the Szechuan people? Steamers are not to be permitted to come for fear of collision with the native boats. As well might one oppose the introduction of railroads for fear there might be people run over and killed. But about the influence on trade of opening Chungking as a port? Will it not be stimul ated and extended to more distant points? No doubt it will, but to a much less extent than if steamers could run. The collectors of Customs prevent agreat deal of smuggling. The presence of a steamer would prove a valuable o ject lesson to the natives, but the presence of a handful of foreigners employed by the Emperor to collect his revenues will not seem to them a very different state of things from what now exist. For my own part I doubt whether there is so great opposition to the coming of steamers as has been generally supposed. Much
